Strains In braced webs may be deduced from shearingstrain. --When the flanges are parallel and the bracing consists of a single system of triangulation, the strain in any brace is equal to the shearing-strain multiplied by $\sec \theta$. Hence the strains in the bracing might be deduced from the shearing-strain in the web calculated in the manner explained in Chap. II. (14, 18). The method of the resolution of forces just described is, however, better calculated to give a correct perception of the properties of diagonal bracing, and it has moreover the advantage of being applicable to lattice girders as well as those whose bracing consists of...
