Seminar paper from the year 2012 in the subject Business economics - Trade and Distribution, grade: B, University of Portsmouth, language: English, abstract: In the contemporary business environment, countrys growth and development is determined by among others its GDP and its ability to invest and export its products abroad. Indeed international trade in the recent past has been necessitated by the concept of globalisation. In this case free movement of goods and people is a reality, a concept that promotes trade between countries, regions and organisations. International trade is thus, the exchange of goods and services between two or more countries across international territories. Generally in most cases international trade contributes a lot to a countrys Gross Domestic Product (GDP). Indeed its unthinkable to deduce what would be without international trade. In essence bilateral trade between two countries is becoming a common concept that seeks to compliment two countrys potentialities in modern business environment. Bilateral trade can be defined as the trade between two countries. This trade has numerous benefits to the parties involved, but consequently it can lead disastrous consequences, especially if one party benefits...
